VILLA MATISSE

Some houses are lived in. Others are passed down.

Villa Matisse is the work of architect Juan Carlos Valdés Adalid, whose signature appears on more than 400 projects across Mexico: residences in San Miguel de Allende and Querétaro, boutique hotels and landmark spaces. It is a piece conceived for those who value authenticity.

Cantera stone, clay and wood come together beneath vaulted ceilings and exposed beams. Cantera fireplaces bring warmth to San Miguel evenings and, from the terrace, a 360° view opens toward the Parroquia and the rooftops of the historic center.

An independent "Casita" welcomes your guests in complete privacy and comfort. And, as a pre-sale, you may choose some of the finishes so every detail reflects your style.
